Greetings.

We hope 2014 is off to a great start for you!

As another year begins, we always like to update our donors on the many ways in which their generosity made the previous year such a success. 2013 was no exception.

To help demonstrate how your gifts impact our students, faculty, and staff every day, we offer this year in review . . . by the numbers.

We hope this glimpse or snapshot will give you some new insights into the nationally renowned programs, world-class faculty, and state-of-the-art facilities that Wright State offers.

Thank you for your continued support.

The American Academy of Family Physicians honored the Wright State University Boonshoft School of Medicine with a Top 10 Award for its consistent commitment to meeting the nation’s need for family physicians.

For the fifth year in a row, The Princeton Review named the Raj Soin College of Business one of America’s best business schools. The Princeton Review listed the college among the best 295 in the nation!

U.S. News & World Report

Ranked Wright State University’s online Master of Nursing degree 38th in the nation and the top-ranked program in Ohio.

Ranked Wright State University’s online Master of Education degree in Curriculum & Instruction 15th in the nation.

Victory Media named Wright State to its Military Friendly Schools® list for the FIFTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR. The list honors the TOP 20 PERCENT of colleges, universities, and trade schools that are doing the most to embrace America’s military service members, veterans, and spouses and help ensure their success as students.

For the 4th year in a row, Wright State was named to the President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll with Distinction 1 of 113 institutions across the country

And only 6 in Ohio to receive this high honor
Preeclampsia occurs in about 7 of every 100 pregnancies.

Appointed to the National Institutes of Health Pregnancy and Neonatology Study Section, Center for Scientific Review, Wright State researcher Thomas L. Brown investigates the underlying causes for preeclampsia and other pregnancy-related disorders that lead to premature birth.

According to the National Cancer Institute, breast cancer kills more women in the United States each year—about 40,000—than any other type of cancer.

Professor Julian Gomez-Cambronero and his research team have discovered a key protein that plays a critical role in the development of breast cancer tumors and the spread of the disease to the nearby lungs.

A groundbreaking on April 25 launched construction of the $37 million, 90,000-square-foot Neuroscience Engineering Collaboration Building—the first of its kind in the country. Slated to open in February 2015, the state-of-the-art facility will house neuroscientists, physicians, and engineers working together to improve the diagnosis and treatment of neurological disorders.

Wright State received a $4.6 million grant from the National Institutes of Health to improve movement in badly injured limbs.
In Fall 2013, Wright State welcomed a record-number of 1,477 international students—a 42% increase from the previous year.

DID YOU KNOW?
Our international students hail from 66 countries around the globe.

2,025 students live on our Dayton and Lake campuses.

Enrollment in the College of Engineering and Computer Science is up nearly 25% with more than 3,000 students!

Our graduate student enrollment jumped nearly 7% from the previous year.

The incoming Class of 2017 includes 85 high school valedictorians or salutatorians.

We are proud to serve 686 veterans and military-connected students!
Giving Thanks

55% of Wright State’s full-time faculty and staff—our highest participation ever—donated during the 2013 Campus Scholarship and Innovation Campaign. Faculty, staff, and retirees contributed a record $710,776 for scholarships and programs.

Our New Home

For the Wright State University Foundation, one of the highlights of 2013 was moving into our own building.

The foundation purchased and renovated a three-story, 35,000 sq. ft. property at 3070 Presidential Dr., located off Colonel Glenn Highway across from Wright State University’s Dayton campus.

For the first time, all Advancement staff are under the same roof, with a spacious, beautiful boardroom for the foundation’s trustees to meet.

Please stop by and visit us!
